

Talks Open On Anglo-Egyptian Sudan Problem

CAIRO, Wednesday. — Egyptian and British negotiators argued for over six hours today on the future of the Sudan. Britain's envoy, Sir Ralph Stevenson, promised to contact his Government urgently on the points raised.

The negotiators, including Premier Nagib, agreed to meet again "at the earliest possible date," it was announced.

The crucial discussion on the clash of policies began with the British proposal on the constitutional status of the Sudan, which they jointly administer. It is common ground that the Sudan should decide its final status for itself, but the problem is what constitutional steps should be taken towards enabling the Sudanese to make up their minds.

Britain insists that during the transition period the Government of the Sudan should retain special powers for protecting the interests of the 15 million backward tribes in the south.

Major Salah Salem, Nagib's Sudan Affairs adviser and one of the leading figures in today's talks, reported that Ambassador Stevenson assured the meeting Britain "had no intention of opposing the Sudan as possible."

Meanwhile, Nagib sided with the Arab Bedouin Chah today to celebrate his becoming an honorary Britisher. U.S. Ambassador Jeteroff said that in the future he would perform the function, said: "Nagib is on the right route."

Salem last night said "If Britain rejects an agreement reached between the Egyptian Government and all the Sudanese parties for self-determination in the Sudan, she will never be able to establish any kind of

Egypt Not Planning To Attack Israel-Saïem

CAIRO, Wednesday (UPI).—Egypt will not start a military hostilities against Israel as long as it respects the truce," said Salah Saïem, President Nasser's Sudan Affairs expert, said a press conference here today.

He said Egypt is not adhering by U.N. decisions and the truce to force Israel to agree to accept the U.N. resolutions dealing with recognition of independence of the Jewish state of Jerusalem respected and implemented by Israel.

"(Saïem) said a General Hagia was quoted by ANA as having led a delegation from the Arab state to the U.N. and cleared by the Business and News problems he would turn his eyes towards "liberating Palestine."

Egyptian Prince in Court For Palestine Arms Scandal

CAIRO, Wednesday (Reuter).—Prince Abbas Halim, a member of the Egyptian Royal Family appeared in a Cairo criminal court under escort today to face charges arising out of the alleged supply of faulty equipment to Egyptian troops during the Palestine War.

He was charged with having sold 105 tons of rifles and

brand:

INO

Dubek Ltd. present their new brand:

Name: DOMINO
Blend: Exquisite
Form: Round & Full
Price: 200 Pruta
FOR 20 CIGARETTES

Try DOMINO today - find out for yourself!

Today's Post Bag

THE WEATHER

	°F	°C	D
Jerusalem	50	10	12
Tel Aviv	55	13	15
Ramat Gan	55	13	15
Haifa	55	13	15
Be'er Sheva	55	13	15
Yotvata	55	13	15
Dimona	55	13	15
Beer Sheva	55	13	15
Yotvata	55	13	15
Dimona	55	13	15

FORECAST: Warm, with a variable amount of high clouds.
(A) Rainfall, (B) Wind, (C) Humidity, (D) Clouds.
Source: Israel Meteorological Service.

CURRENCY IN CIRCULATION: The amount of Israeli Lira in circulation as of January 28, 1953, was 1,234,567,890.

THE ISRAELI CORPORATION of America has conducted a survey of the country's economic situation, and has found that the country's economy is in a state of transition.

A CONSEQUENCE of "Orlita" virus, which is a type of influenza, has been reported in the country. It is a highly contagious disease, and is characterized by fever, headache, and muscle aches.

THE ISRAELI branch of "Bata" shoe store has changed its name to "Avalon". The store is located in the center of the city, and is known for its high-quality shoes.

PUPILS of the Rehovot girls' school demonstrated in front of the Rehovot Municipal Council building, protesting against the council's decision to increase the school's fees.

FOR EMPLOYMENT, a woman who was employed as a collector of rents by the Rehovot Municipality, has been dismissed for failing to perform her duties properly.

CHARGED WITH causing the death of a child, a woman has been charged with the crime of manslaughter. The child died as a result of a fall from a window.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

THE POLICE FORCE will from next week be able to use all the same uniforms as the British police. This will help to reduce the cost of uniforms.

A BARREL containing 173 liters of gasoline, which was stolen from a garage, has been recovered by the police. The thief is still at large.

Debate on Eshkol Statement In Nearly Empty House

PCST Knesset Correspondent
The debate on price policy which followed the statement of the Finance Minister on Tuesday continued for an hour yesterday in an almost empty House. Less than a dozen members were present when the Knesset was adjourned until Monday next.

The debate was exploited by the speakers to ventilate old or renewed ideas and as a rehearsal for the general budget debate in March. Moreover, as the official party stands have not yet been fixed, speakers seemed to reflect more their own views than those of their parties. Mr. Hannah Landman (Independent) seemed to express this viewpoint when he called the coalition a "federation of Ministers."

The idea of setting up a Welfare State must be abandoned for the time being, Dr. H. Forster (Progressive) said. No illusions should be encouraged while striving for a balanced budget. The country could not stand new taxes; it was the reorganization of the procedure for collecting the old ones which could bring more money in.

It now appears, Dr. Forster continued, that Mr. Eshkol was proceeding according to a preconceived plan when he ordered the increase of certain prices, for it was a step to prevent the printing of new notes, not a stop-gap act suggested by emergency. The Minister of Finance was wrong, however, in underestimating the psychological effect of his measure, and ought to have explained it to the public in time, supporting subsidies to maintain the low cost of bread, was "demagogic," Dr. Forster said. The Government will have to give up even essential social services to achieve financial stability for at least a year.

The opposition, Dr. Forster said, provided no alternative plan, only slogans. Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

In the eyes of Mr. M. Wilner (Communist), the present plight was the direct outcome of the New Zionist movement, the American, British, and French Mandate, which had been imposed on the Jewish people. The Government, he asserted, was being deliberately set to finance only a fraction of its capacity. The House seemed to be getting used to the idea of a "New Zionist" movement, which he accused the Knesset of being "insult."

Mr. Landman was not discouraged. She said Dr. Forster was advising the poor to tighten their belts even more, instead of indicating how they could be helped. An overall programme, not half-baked partial measures, should have been proposed by the Government.

BOY PULLED OUT OF OPEN PIT

JERUSALEM POST Reporter
NATHANYA, Wednesday.—A five-year-old Israeli boy was rescued from a deep hole in the ground in the town of Nathanya, near Tel Aviv, yesterday.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

The hole in the ground was about 10 feet deep and was located in a residential area. It was dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was found by a group of children who were playing in the area. He had fallen into a hole which had been dug by a group of men who were working on a construction project.

The boy was pulled out of the hole by a group of men who were working on the project. He was found unconscious, but he was not seriously injured.

The boy was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for his injuries. He is now recovering and is expected to be discharged soon.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern in the town of Nathanya. The children who found the boy are now being watched closely by the police.

Abu'l Huda Blamed For Rhodes 'Error'

Jerusalem Post Reporter
This was said by the recently dismissed Mayor of Tel Aviv, Shimon Peres, in a heated two-hour debate on the Rhodes agreement which followed a long session on that subject on Tuesday evening.

"A-Difa," the Old City daily, reported yesterday.

Not only did the Premier know of every step taken in regard to the agreement, but some of his Government colleagues, Ministers and Directors-General, stood the 1 to 100,000 map with the resulting loss of tens of thousands of dunams in the "Triangle."

It was Abu'l Huda who had ordered the Arab Legion to enter the Palestine war; it was he who had agreed to negotiations with the Jews; he who had approved the Rhodes Agreement and all later maps of Jerusalem.

His speech was continuously interrupted by the Premier, who repeatedly shouted "what a terrible impudence."

Bank Loans IL 1.7m. To Local Authorities
Credits totalling IL 1,700,000 will be granted by local authorities by the Palestine Discount Bank in cooperation with the Ministries of Finance and Labour in a scheme to aid the authorities in their handling of the unemployment problem and development projects.

A part of the loan will be devoted to the construction of school buildings.

Kinneret Sails With Citrus for USSR
HAIFA, Wednesday.—The s.s. Kinneret sailed tonight for Odessa with 30,000 cases of citrus and 40 tons of bananas. The cargo also includes 220 tons of Neher cement for Turkey.

The s.s. Massalia left for Trieste yesterday with three tons of tomatoes and a ton of raisins. The s.s. Tzofit is due to return from Odessa on Friday, via Turkey, where she will pick up 1,800 sheep for the Jewish Agency.

ALL CYCLISTS who have not renewed their licenses for 1953 will be liable to fines and their bicycles will be impounded.

The Tel Aviv Municipality has announced that the procedure fixed under the Death Declarations law, which had been passed before the District Court issued judgment, should be observed.

The District Court ruled that the law now provides for additional remedies and procedures, but does not bar previous practice.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the law provided for a death declaration in cases of a sudden death, and that the District Court's decision was correct.

The Attorney General appealed to the Court of Appeals against the decision of the District Court. He argued that the law provided for a death declaration only in cases of a sudden death.

NEW PEKING MAN FOUND IN CHINA

TOKYO, Wednesday (AP).—Peking Radio today announced the discovery of part of a skeleton, with three teeth, of a "New Peking Man" at Shukuntan, Hopei Province, by a group of anthropologists.

The Radio added that the skeleton was found in a cave, and was about 100,000 years old. It was found by a group of Chinese and American anthropologists.

